PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION POST CARD WEEK

Great Quantities of Cards Sent to Points
All Over the United States--The Feature a Success.

The headquarters of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco has been a very busy place during the past week, or, properly speaking, "Post Card Week."

This feature adopted by the committee to advertise San Francisco as the proper location for the great exposition has proven a great success.

Hundreds of thousands of post cards have been sent to points all over the United States. The demand for the cards has been enormous, and has kept three printing houses busy getting them out.

Invitations have been sent to people all over the United States, from the president to the humblest citizen, to boost for San Francisco and be there in 1915.

The exposition press bureau has presented vital arguments why San Francisco is entitled to an endorsement by congress in December as the official site for the exposition.

The first selfish argument is that an exposition anywhere in the state will benefit the entire state. The bigger the exposition, the more the benefit.

The second is the great educational value to residents of the state, of an international exposition, and especially an exposition that will draw the most magnificent oriental exhibits ever sent to the Occident.

After these and other selfish reasons, comes the right of San Francisco to the fair. R. B. Hale, one of the exposition company, first presented the project of such a celebration of the opening of the Panama canal to the Merchants' Association in 1904.

San Francisco and California, but principally San Francisco, will finance the exposition, going before congress for endorsement only, and not for one cent of money.

San Francisco's climate is bracing at every season of the year.

San Francisco's location makes possible a trip from the Atlantic and the gulf through the canal and up the Pacific coast to its greatest ports.

San Francisco, rebuilt and more splendid than ever, can comfortably entertain a host of visitors.

Citizens of South San Francisco are urged to send away at least six each of these post cards, which can be obtained from F. A. Cunningham, secretary of the local exposition site committee, at the postoffice.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS TOLD IN BRIEF

The announcement is made that Peter Lind of this city and Vina M. Lamb of Mill Valley will be married in the near future.

Our fall stock of kimona, vicuna and tennis flannels is now on display at Schneiders.

Dr. O'Connor and wife have purchased the Pike residence property on Grand avenue, near Maple, where they have made their home.

T. C. McGovern of this city, has been appointed to the position of jailer at the county jail at Redwood City by Sheriff Chatham. Tom will be on the job.

Committees are actively at work preparing for the dance of the Butchers' Lodge, to be given at Metropolitan Hall on Saturday evening, October 29th.

Lost—Two hat plumes at Metropolitan Hall, Saturday evening, Sept. 24th. Parties who have them known. Return to this office and avoid prosecution.

Wm. H. Almon, democratic nominee for justice of the peace for first township, has placed his announcement in another column of The Enterprise. He is making an active canvass throughout this district, and says he is receiving encouragement from voters.

Private party wants to sell a modern cottage; four large rooms and bath centrally located in South San Francisco. Reasonable terms. Apply to Harry Johnson, 323 Miller avenue, South San Francisco.

See the announcement of James V. Swift, democratic nominee for county treasurer, in another column of The Enterprise. Bro. Swift is a good newspaper man, and the Redwood City Democrat, the product of his pen, is an excellent publication. While The Enterprise believes P. P. Chamberlain should be re-elected treasurer, if the voters of the county decide for Bro. Swift, it will cash its claims with him with just as much pleasure as it does now.

Lost.—On San Mateo car, Sunday, October 9th, leather reel case, initialed "B," containing reel; also unfinished reel case. Return to Cashier San Francisco Chronicle. Good reward.

Robt. S. Chatham, republican nominee for sheriff, was in this city on Wednesday. "Bob" is making an active canvass and feels confident he will win by a large majority. The work in the sheriff's office has increased very materially during the last four years and no additional help has been employed. He has made a competent official, with the means at his command. Personally, he is very popular, and numbers his friends by the hundreds in this county as well as elsewhere in California. Citizens will make no mistake in voting for Bob Chatham for sheriff.

Judge A. McSweeney, republican nominee for tax collector, is making a record canvass. He is on the go all the time and gaining many staunch friends. He is thoroughly competent and will make a proficient county official. Judge McSweeney came to this city and county some fifteen years ago, having been appointed a government inspector in the department of agriculture by President McKinley. He has been one of our leading, progressive citizens ever since. He has been successful in everything he has undertaken, including serving as justice of the peace for first township during the past four years. Citizens, cast a big, rousing vote for Judge McSweeney, as he has made good, and will do the same as tax collector.

Kenneth M. Green, republican nominee for district attorney, is making a clean, manly fight. He is entitled to the support of a united party. Over 3000 republican votes were cast at the late primary election in this county, which resulted in the choice of Mr. Green as the nominee for district attorney. He was reared and educated in

PROCEEDINGS OF THE CITY BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Mission Road to Be Rocked Twelve Feet Wide and Eight Inches Deep--Office of Poundmaster Declared Vacant.

The city board of trustees met in regular weekly session last Monday night, with all the members present.

Chief Engineer Waggoner reported progress on the work he was doing in the survey of Division street for contemplated improvements.

Trustee Healy of the street committee reported that the work of grading Mission road had commenced and would soon be in condition for rocking. The report was accepted.

Upon motion of Trustee Cunningham, seconded by Trustee Healy, City Engineer Waggoner and City Attorney Styles were instructed to prepare specifications providing that a portion of Mission road be improved by making a new highway of rock twelve feet wide and eight inches deep, and present it at an adjourned meeting to be held the following Thursday noon.

On Thursday specifications for the improvement were presented and adopted. Clerk Smith was instructed to advertise for bids to do the work.

City Clerk Smith reported that the city tax apportionment of the Southern Pacific Company for this city is $90,214, which will give about $450. That of the Pullman Palace Car Company is $1507, giving to the city $7.50.

Upon motion of Trustee Hickey, seconded by Trustee Cunningham, the office of poundmaster was declared vacant.

Upon motion of Trustee McGovern, seconded by Trustee Healy, City Marshal H. W. Kneese was appointed temporary chief of the city fire department, and upon motion of Trustee Hickey, seconded by Trustee Healy, Trustee F. A. Cunningham was appointed temporary secretary.

Upon motion of Trustee Healy, seconded by Trustee McGovern, a resolution ordering the work of laying concrete curbs and artificial stone sidewalks on both sides of Cypress avenue, between Railroad and Lux avenues, was adopted.

Upon motion of Trustee Hickey, seconded by Trustee Healy, Clerk Smith was instructed to write to the local power and light company and ask that it have the street lights turned off every morning at 6:30 o'clock.

NEWS NOTES FROM BUSTLING SAN BRUNO

The Enterprise has made arrangements to have boxes placed in different parts of San Bruno, in which news items of occurrences in San Bruno can be placed by contributors. Items should be written on one side of paper only and signed by contributor for the purpose of showing good faith and for verification. The boxes will be located as follows: Southern Pacific depot, San Bruno crossing, Huntington station, San Mateo avenue near the postoffice and Lomita Park station. Place items in boxes not later than Thursday night. Important late news can be put in boxes after Thursday.

Mrs. L. Hudson has improved so that she is able to be about again.

To-night a democratic rally will be held at Town Hall. All are welcome.

L. Rugaard, after a month's vacation, has left San Bruno and gone to sea again.

The candidates of both parties are busily engaged in getting acquainted with the voters of San Bruno.

Subscribe for the San Francisco Examiner, the people's paper. Harry Palmer, agent, P. O. box 25.

Mrs. L. Nelson of San Francisco, formerly of San Bruno, spent Thursday afternoon and evening here with friends.

Keep in mind the dance to be given on October 29th at Town Hall for the benefit of Volunteer Fire Co. No. 1.

Terms furnished on deeded lots in desirable locations in San Bruno. J. M. Custer.

Don't forget the indoor picnic that is to take place at Green's Hall on the night of November 5th next. It is given for a worthy cause—to equip the San Mateo avenue fire house.

To the Editor of The Enterprise—Sir: At the meeting of the San Bruno republican club last Thursday evening the action taken at a previous meeting when the old executive committee was declared out of office was sustained. There was a large attendance. Secretary.

To the Editor of The Enterprise—Sir: The republican club of San Bruno met again last Thursday evening with Geo. Edwards in the chair and W. W. Linesba at the secretary's desk. The progressives were also there in numbers with sufficient force to constitute a majority, but as matters pertaining to the conduct of the club had been passed to the republican county central committee at a previous meeting, it was decided to allow the old guard to proceed without interruption. It tacitly resolved itself into a Quaker meeting and finished its burden of responsibility in twenty minutes. The meeting adjourned with all future meetings indefinitely postponed. Member.

CALIFORNIA WILL REAP BIG PROFITAdvertising Through Exposition
Will Bring Quick Returns

The action taken by the special session of the Legislature, which have been the one thing required to make the Panama-Pacific International Exposition an enterprise in which all California can well afford to become interested. In the archives of State legislation there is no record of a measure equally important upon which all factions, parties and sections agreed so promptly and so completely. The reflecting citizen will grasp quickly the value of a California united upon the larger and more essential things, and probably will decide for himself, after the twentieth century fashion, that the achievement of this result is worth all that the exposition is likely to cost in the matter of taxes.

There is the probability, however that California will profit immediately through the unusual forms of advertising that the State secures abroad through the 1915 fair. It is many years since the region west of the Mississippi River was afforded a chance to demonstrate its strength of aided population in an issue so broad and clean-cut, and it is along the Atlantic Coast that men and women are awaiting with interest the decision of Congress in this test of grit, enthusiasm and resources. From this same territory California is drawing the larger part of its population and it seems idle to attack the argument that 10,000 new people, acquired during the two years following the passage of these State amendments, would more than compensate for the expenditure the State is called upon to make in the fight against New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS
FIGHTING HARDPowerful Railroad Influence at Work for Southern City

Every little while you hear some knocker say that New Orleans is doing everything to get the big fair in 1915 and that San Francisco is doing nothing. This week there was generally circulated a story that it had been found by our Chamber of Commerce that 90 per cent of the big commercial organizations of the country were tied up to New Orleans and that the other 10 per cent were non-committal.

Now, there wasn't any truth in that story, and there isn't any truth in the statement that the New Orleans committee is doing far more effective work than is our own committee. Our committee is in reality doing much better work than the New Orleans committee. But there is a great and powerful influence at work in favor of New Orleans, and it is that influence that must be fought hardest if we are to win.

I refer to the influence of the Illinois Central, the Southern Railway and other railroad lines that would be specially benefited by having the fair at New Orleans. Our own Southern Pacific has a terminus at New Orleans as well as at San Francisco. So it is a good deal tied up. But the Western Pacific, Salt Lake road and Santa Fe are in a position to help us out a lot if they will pitch in and combat the influence of those Southern and Middle Western roads.—Oakland Tribune.

CRESCENT CITY A FORMIDABLE RIVALTimely Advice Is Given By the San Diego Union

The urgent necessity of united action by all California in the great fight to secure the Panama Exposition for San Francisco is set forth in a timely and carefully considered editorial in the San Diego Union as follows:

"At the outset it is well not to underestimate the strength of the movement for New Orleans. That city, it is true, has not made a very imposing financial showing as a candidate for exposition honors. It is relying for pecuniary support upon the State of Louisiana rather than upon itself. Its pretensions, too, have been the theme of not a little good-natured ridicule in

SAN BERNARDINO SUN
CHANGES ITS MINDWarmly Advocates Exposition
Tax It At First Opposed

The San Bernardino Sun has experienced a change of heart in the matter of raising $5,000,000 for the Panama-Pacific Exposition by a State tax, and very frankly says so, at the same time giving the reasons for its conversion as follows:

"A wise man will change his mind, but a fool never," says the proverb. Ditto, newspapers. Once, possibly twice since the suggestion was made that the State of California should bond itself for $5,000,000 to assist in the financing of the Panama exposition proposed at San Francisco, and thus provide an aggregate fund of $17,500,000 for the fair, The Sun has voiced its opposition to the plan on the ground that the total sum to be provided is excessive and beyond precedent.

"Frankly, our own investigations have proven the error of that premise, and if the premise is wrong, the reasoning from it is very likely to be. So far as we have observed, no news source had made any comparisons with what has been provided for other big fairs in recent years, but The Sun determined to make some independent inquiries, expecting that the results would furnish new argument to use against the bond issue for which the Legislature that meets tomorrow is to pave the way. On the contrary, what has been developed has furnished argument rather in support of the bond issue, and we call the attention of those newspapers—and they are numerous in Southern and Central California—that are opposing the bond issue, to the facts that are shown below.

"The Sun sent telegrams to the Chicago Tribune, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the Portland Oregonian, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and the Buffalo Express, asking to what extent those five expositions had been financed in advance. Replies have been received from all but the query addressed to Buffalo."

The replies received by The Sun show that Chicago had $20,000,000 in sight for the Columbian Exposition, St. Louis $15,000,000 for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, Portland $1,350,000 for her Lewis & Clark Exposition, and Seattle $1,380,000 for the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition.

Continuing, The Sun says: "If the Panama Exposition in San Francisco in 1915 is to be a big World's Fair, in the class with the St. Louis and Chicago shows, $17,000,000 is not too much. If we are to be satisfied with a small fair such as that at Seattle or Portland, that is quite another matter."

"The Sun believes California wants the big fair, and when the information herewith gathered is digested by the newspapers which have been in opposition, that the opposition will largely disappear.

"The Sun begs leave to change its vote from no to yes."

the East as well as upon the Pacific Coast. Nevertheless, the time has come when California should fully recognize that the Crescent City is a formidable adversary. Its residents are full of enthusiasm for the exposition project. They are warmly supported by the people of their State, and, what is far more important, unless present indications are utterly misleading, the influence of most of the States east of the Rocky mountains will be thrown to the Southern city, if, indeed, it has not already been bestowed there.

"Against these odds the city of San Francisco could hardly hope to win single-handed, even though it doubled its preliminary exposition fund and pledged $17,500,000 instead of the $7,500,000 that has been subscribed. To obtain the recognition of Congress as the designated city for an exposition that shall worthily commemorate the opening of the Panama canal, San Francisco should have the combined support of the whole Pacific Coast. The first step to obtain that support should be to make sure of the backing of the entire State of California. New Orleans would cut no figure whatever as an aspirant for exposition honors, had that city failed to enlist the aid of Louisiana. San Francisco will be in a weak position unless California is behind it."

FOUNDERS OF THE CITY OF SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

THE SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO LAND AND IMPROVEMENT COMPANY designed in its original plan to make of South San Francisco a great manufacturing center. With that object in view, it originally purchased 3500 acres of land in San Mateo County, on the bay front, five miles south of the City of San Francisco. Since the original purchase, the company has added greatly to its holdings by the purchase of large tracts of adjoining lands, giving to it a perfect environment for the complete development of a great manufacturing city.

The faith which this Company had in its enterprise has been manifest to everyone by the large expenditure it has made in the development of this property. Every foundation which goes to make a perfect condition for manufacture has been already solidly installed, and is a rapidly growing city; it is a railroad terminal; it is on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and accessible to all railroads; has deep water communication; owns and operates for its industries a railroad connecting with the Southern Pacific and the water front; has electric street car service from factory to Town, and direct to San Francisco; has an Electric Light and Power Company; owns an independent Water Works, and has an abundance of fresh water for factory and house; has wharves and docks; a perfect sewerage system; a Bank and a Town Hall; and a population of over 3000 people an extensive and fine residence district, where everyone may secure lands at reasonable prices and on favorable terms, as homes for themselves and their families.

FACTORY SITES

can be obtained from the South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company on most reasonable terms.

The completion of the Bay Shore Tunnels has placed South San Francisco on the main lines of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and forty passenger trains per day connect it with the outside world.

With the completion of the Dumbarton Bridge and Cutoff, now rapidly being constructed, South San Francisco will have all railroads which center in San Francisco passing through its midst.

Many industries are already established here, chief of which are the Western Meat Company, the Wool Pullery, the Soap Works, the Baden Brick Company, Pacific Jupiter Steel Company, the Steiger Pottery Works, the W. P. Fuller White Lead Works, the South San Francisco Lumber and Supply Company, and other enterprises, all of which are in full operation to-day. The American Smelting and Refining Company has purchased over 300 acres of land in South San Francisco for the purpose of erecting a great plant, which they estimate will cost upwards of $5,000,000. The Doak Sheet Steel Company has purchased a large tract of land and has already commenced the construction of a large rolling mill. Other factories have recently made purchases, and South San Francisco is plainly destined to fulfill all that its promoters had hoped.

GET YOUR CONGRESSMAN
TO VOTE
FOR SAN FRANCISCO-1915

It has been said, and often repeated, that there is no material difference between modern democracy and modern republicanism.

Similarity of platforms is usually cited as proof of the aforesaid allegation.

Men point to Johnson and Bell, and say, "are not these two men altogether alike?"

It is not to be denied that they are alike in the main as to the ends aimed at by each; that both desire freer and better government for the American people. Granting all this, there is still a wide gap between the two old parties. This difference is radical. It is not so much on issues as it is one of character and inherent nature.

One is a party of negation, the other a party of achievement. One is ancient, the other modern. After Jefferson and Jackson and the golden age of democracy, smaller men succeeded those great ones, and the democratic party degenerated into a mere tool for the extension and perpetuation of human slavery. Its history under Van Buren and Polk and Pierce and Buchanan is a story of national shame. It is a disgraceful record of continuous and abject subservience to the moneyed interests of that time.

Overwhelmed by the tremendous political upheaval of 1860, and the awful conflict and carnage of four years of civil war, this old, discredited party did not die, as it should have done.

No; it continued a feeble and uncertain existence, as a disturber of the peace, as a restless spirit of discontent. From that time to the present it has been continuously the party of opposition, of negation.

The republican party is the opposite of all this. From its birth in 1856, this party has been a virile political force.

Its achievements crowd and illuminate the pages of our country's history for fifty years.

Its policies have made this republic the foremost and greatest world power amongst all the nations of the earth. This grand old party has lapsed at times, but it has in every instance recovered from within.

When ailing or sick, it has always purged itself. In the past decade, under the leadership of that great tribune of the people, Theodore Roosevelt, it has gone forward in a grand progressive political march, rescuing control of this government from the grasp of special interests, and restoring it to the people.

The young men, sons of democratic sires, are flocking to the republican standard. The tide has set and is at full flood in this state. It is a progressive republican tide, and there is no resisting it.

Hiram Johnson and Theodore Bell are both good men, and good Americans, but one leads the party of progress, the other that of inaction, or more correctly speaking, of reaction.

This is the difference, and the difference is inherent and radical.

The candidate for public office is under obligation to publicly define his position on every question of public interest.

He should do this as concisely as possible, but so clearly that the public cannot fail to understand who he is, and what he is.

He should do this well, but at the least financial outlay consistent with thorough publicity.

We have been moved in this matter by the frequent display of silk and satin banners hung up in certain public places in every town of San Mateo county, apparently to show that the candidates whose names these gaudy placards bear can afford the expense of a silk or satin dress for their candidacy.

Why is this? Is silk or satin any evidence of the wearer's honesty or capability.

The simple life is the wholesome life, and this is true as applied to politics as well as other human activities.

Cut out the silk, gentlemen, and give us Jeffersonian simplicity.

All the people care for is, can you stand the Jeffersonian test, "Is he honest, is he capable?"

The direct primary has vitalized party organization in this state. It has harmonized and strengthened the republican party as no other agency could have done. It has put an end to dissension. It is the square deal in which every voter has a hand.

It is so entirely fair that revolt is inexcusable and well nigh impossible.

In San Mateo county the direct primary has given the republican party an exceptionally strong ticket; a ticket The Enterprise does not hesitate to endorse from top to bottom. This ticket is strong for the reason that it was made by the people themselves, without go-betweens of any kind.

This is a republican county, and republicans will prove their fealty and loyalty to the principles of nomination by direct vote of the people by going to the polls on election day and electing this people's-made ticket.

San Francisco at present has something less than half-million population. Greater New York has over four millions. When San Francisco enters the million class many a square mile will be needed to make room for her inhabitants. A million would crowd every foot of her present territory.

Modern ideas are opposed to crowded human habitations.

At no distant day all of San Mateo county will be needed to make room for San Francisco's multitudes. And when that time comes, all of San Mateo county's deep water front will be in demand for docks and slips to harbor and shelter San Francisco's expanding ocean shipping and commerce.

San Mateo county should welcome merger into greater San Francisco. Such union would settle this county's future big water supply question, as well as other matters of moment. Merger is manifest destiny. Let it come, and the sooner the better.

San Francisco should secure Lake Eleanor, buy Spring Valley and annex San Mateo county to prepare room and provide for the wants of the millions of the city that is to be.

BOMB EXPLODED IN STREET OF PARIS

Buildings Damaged But No One Badly Injured

At 12:30 o'clock Friday morning a bomb exploded in front of No. 6 Rue Berri, in Paris. The noise aroused the surrounding district, which is one of the most fashionable in that city. The fine doors of the house were damaged, the inner doors and windows were blown to pieces. Houses on each side and in front also suffered, but nobody was injured. The reason this particular house was attacked is unknown. Judge Dreyfus is one of the occupants of the house and ex-Chief Detective Goron lives next door.

At 7 o'clock Thursday night the electric lights in the Clichy section were cut out. Clichy is one of the eight divisions into which Paris is divided for electric lighting. The putting out of the lights is presumably due to a strike in sympathy with the railroad men. Plenty of lamps were available, however, and they were produced quickly.

Big Strike Revolutionary.

Premier Briand, commenting on the electricians' act, emphasized the revolutionary character of the strike movement. It is believed a warrant has been issued for the arrest of the notorious Patand, secretary of the Electricians' Union, who is credited with responsibility for extinguishing the lights.

As dusk came, electric lights in the Ministry of the Interior and palace of the Elysee went out. An attempt was made to inform the Prefect of Police, but it failed, and then it was found the telephone wires had been cut.

A bicyclist was then sent with the information to the police. A battalion of infantry was detailed to protect the palace, which is the residence of President Fallieres.

More trains for Brussels and London left the Northern Railway station Thursday than Wednesday, but on the Western Railway the tie-up is still complete. The Government succeeded in maintaining communication with points from which the food supplies were brought into the city. The supply was short, but Paris is no longer in danger of famine, it is said. Butter, milk and eggs are scarce.

Strike Now Weakening.

The arrest of some of the most prominent strike leaders and the failure of the large majority of the employees of the Eastern Railroad, the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean and the Paris-Orleans roads to respond to the strike order have had the effect of dampening the spirits of the strikers, who now number about 100,000 men.

GENERAL NEWS
HAPPENINGS
Eighteen Chinese were captured by secret service officials at Victoria when the steamer Empress of India arrived from the Orient in the effort to evade payment of the $500 head tax each, by declaring themselves exempt as merchants, each being provided with letters to a Vancouver interpreter and fake drafts. This is the second capture secret service men made since they began the investigation into the smuggling of Chinese laborers under the guise of merchants.

The Isthmian Canal Commission reports that on August 31st there were 35,867 employees actually at work on the canal and the Panama Railroad, and of this number 29,950 were canal employees. No labor recruiting during the month was necessary. The number of Americans engaged in the enterprise shows an increase of twenty-five over the report of July, and the total force employed is divided as follows: Railroad, 3298; railroad relocation force, 1603; railroad commissary force, 1016; Isthmian canal force, 29,950.

The United States Marine Guard at Peking, the entire marine force in the Philippine Islands and every marine in both the Pacific and Atlantic fleets have been equipped with the latest modern arms, the newest model of the Springfield army rifle. This makes 4000 or more marines already armed with this weapon, while all the rest of the marine corps, which musters a total strength of a little less than 10,000, are equipped with the old Krag Jorgenson.

Joshua Rees, a farmer of Mason county, Kentucky, repulsed a band of night riders who attacked his home during the night, recently. A score of shots were exchanged, but it was not known whether any of the marauders were hurt.

TIMES SUSPECT FREED

Release Follows Visit of Detective to Capital.

Following the visit to Sacramento of Detective William J. Burns, George Wallace, the suspected dynamiter of the Los Angeles Times building, has been released by Chief of Police Ahern. That the visit of the detectives working on the dynamite outrage had some bearing on the release of the suspect is admitted by Ahern, but he says they did not come for the special purpose of seeing Wallace, so far as he knows. What they were doing remains for them to make known, he says, intimating that they were in quest of other clues.

Ahern says Burns and Beck did not take a look at Wallace, who was taken into custody following the receipt of letters from John Murray, a Los Angeles friend, mentioning the dynamiting in a peculiar manner that cast suspicion upon him.

Ahern received no word from Los Angeles concerning his capture until after Wallace's release, when he was advised to hold him until a man arrived, but other information at hand made the chief decide that there was no further need of holding Wallace.

Governor Gillett has signed the call for the Pacific Coast Congress, which is to be held in San Francisco next month for the discussion of matters relating to the Pacific Coast, upon which action by the Federal Government is desired. Representatives of the Merchant Marine League of California met the Governor in the Crocker Building, San Francisco, United States Senator George C. Perkins also being present.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES

Antone Costa's fireworks factory, in the northern part of Santa Clara, was destroyed by a fire, which followed a terrific explosion of powder stored in the big shack. The blaze consumed a quantity of pyrotechnics which were being specially prepared for a celebration by the Portuguese colony there of the triumph of the Republican revolutionists in Lisbon. The cause of the explosion was probably spontaneous combustion. The loss is about $1000. No one was injured.

Guy Parkinson, a Long Beach house mover, was electrocuted in San Pedro. While on the roof of a house he came in contact with a live wire carrying 2000 volts. The body rolled down the roof and lodged on a shed.

Sweeping over Reno, Nevada, in overwhelming proportions, a crime wave has swamped the machinery of justice throughout the county and municipal departments up to the District Attorney's office and the courts. No less than four murder cases now occupy the attention of the authorities, while two assaults with intent to kill, three forgeries, one attempted rape upon a young woman of the divorce colony and one horse stealing case vie with each other in attracting attention since the close of gambling in Reno.

Killed on Hunting Trip.

Robert Pearson of Hollister was accidentally killed while on a hunting trip near Gorda, Cal. While William Bell, a companion, of King City, was carrying a rifle over his shoulder, it was discharged. The ball lodged in Pearson's breast and he died almost instantly. He was 22 years old and leaves a widowed mother.

INFLUENTIAL MEN WILL BE INVITED

Coast Needs Will Be Discussed at Three Days' Session

Secretary C. C. Henlon of the Merchant Marine League had the form of the call drawn up in the shape of an invitation to attend the Pacific Coast Congress. This was handsomely engraved. The Governor signed copies of this invitation, which will be sent at once to the United States Senators, Congressmen, Governors, Lieutenant-Governors and legislative presiding officers of the States and Territories which are to be represented in the congress.

These States and Territories are California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Idaho, Alaska and Hawaii. The officials and other persons to whom the engraved invitations will be mailed will be under no expense in attending the Pacific Coast Congress, as a fund of $5000 has been raised by the Merchant Marine League to meet the cost of bringing them together and entertaining them while in San Francisco. As a compliment to Mrs. Gillett, the first invitation signed by her husband was reserved by Secretary Henlon for her. Men of influence and importance, who are not in public office, but from whom addresses at the congress are wanted, will also be invited guests.

The Mayors of all the cities in the States and Territories named will be requested to attend and to appoint delegates to the Congress, and all of the commercial and civic bodies that are interested in the subjects which are to be dealt with will be asked to send representatives. It is intended that Mayor McCarthy of San Francisco shall sign the invitations to the Mayors. The Merchant Marine League, which is in charge of the arrangements, and which will provide for all of the expenses, will forward these invitations and also the communications to organizations.

TERSE CALIFORNIA NEWS

A gas well with a substantial, though intermittent, flow has been struck at the Richardson springs east of Chico, and boring is now being done with the intention of supplying the resort with natural gas. For several years small quantities of gas have been known to exist in the neighborhood, but until recently no determined effort had been made to get at it.

Some patent alcohol irons peddled around Dinuba, thirty miles southeast of Fresno, claimed their second victim, when one exploded in the hand of Mrs. Gottlob Zaretzke, wife of a prosperous rancher, and burned her probably fatally. In the resulting fire, while her frantic husband was trying to quench the flames when summoned by her screams, the home burned down, with their savings for the season.

Negligence on the part of the New Guadalupe Mining Company at San Jose, in allowing sticks of dynamite to lie around within the reach of small boys, is charged in a suit filed by Edward A. Reynolds of Guadalupe for $25,000 damages for the recent death of his young son, Douglass, in an explosion. The boy's body was terribly mangled. The boy found the dynamite and caps and hammered them with a rock until the explosion occurred.

Just in time to save the State from being "busted," $200,000 arrived at the State Treasury from the Treasurer of San Francisco. The State funds on hand were badly depleted, and the demands upon them are great. Had it not been for the receipt of this money, it would have been necessary for State Treasurer Williams to call in some of the loans, and this would cut off some of the State revenue that comes in as interest. Williams estimates that by having the money come from San Francisco at this time, it was worth $10.95 a day to the State from now until December 31st.

Committee Makes Report of Findings.

The committee of six business and professional men appointed by Mayor Alexander of Los Angeles to inquire into the cause of the explosion which destroyed the building and plant of the Los Angeles Times on the night of October 1st has reported that, in the opinion of the committee, the explosion had resulted from a placed charge of nitro-glycerin or some powerful product of nitro-glycerin. The report stated that the explosive had been placed in an alley which ran into the building on a level with the street and immediately over the Times press-rooms.

EXPECTED SPANISH REVOLT RESTRAINED

Troops Held Under Arms, But Nowhere Needed

An official note was issued on Thursday evening announcing advices from all parts of Spain indicating there had been no demonstration of any account to commemorate the death of Ferrer and no disorders. The day had been dreaded by the authorities as the free thinkers, Socialists and Republicans had planned Ferrer demonstrations that might easily lead to bloodshed. Up to midnight there had been no disorders. This was due probably to the firm attitude taken by Premier Canalejas and the Ministry, and orders issued to General Weyler, Captain-General of Catalonia, to put down mercilessly any revolt. Throughout Spain troops were held at their barracks ready for instant service. Every officer and soldier on leave had rejoined his command at daylight.

The danger of rioting appeared greatest at Barcelona, where the Government refused to authorize a procession and manifestations at Ferrer's tomb. Those wishing to take part in such gatherings were informed that if they visited the cemetery to place flowers upon the grave of the Republican leader they must do so individually and not in a body. Even the assembling of small groups was prohibited.

The recent encouragement to Spanish Republicans found in the success of the revolution in Portugal was a source of special concern, as there are rumors that the outbreak at Lisbon was planned originally for Thursday and was to have coincided with a

A MENTAL PHOTOGRAPH.

Or Might It Have Been a Dream of a Somnambulist?

By EDWIN B. KERNOCHEN.
[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

In New Hampshire is a lake half a dozen miles long by from half to three quarters of a mile wide where I once spent my summer vacation. The house in which I stopped was on a point jutting out into the lake, and, sitting on a porch, I could look across a little bay to a wooded margin, with high hills beyond. Nestling under trees on the water's edge was a white house with a balcony overhanging the lake.

I would sit by the hour looking at this bit of water view and especially the house with the overhanging balcony. There was nothing remarkable about it. It was simply as I have described it. Nevertheless there grew up in my mind something strange, some thing vague, as though I was cognizant of a happening there. But what that happening was, whether it was then occurring or had occurred in the past, was not revealed to me. Nevertheless it seemed to me, sitting there looking at the place, that my mind was acting like a camera in which a plate after long exposure will receive and retain an impression too delicate to be detected by the eye; that something occurring or which had occurred was being revealed to me through some mysterious process. But why I was so impressed or what was the nature of the impression I did not know.

Being a physician and a student of the functions of the brain, it occurred to me that very hard study upon my specialty had affected my own brain and that I was myself unconsciously producing the phenomenon. Then, again, remembering what has been achieved in mind reading, transference of thought and kindred mental operations, I wondered if I might not be going a step further and receiving a "wireless" impression of something beyond my ordinary perceptive faculties.

One night—it was between 11 and 12 o'clock—I heard a voice under my window call:

"Doctor!"

I was used to such calls and awakened at once. Getting out of bed, I put my head out of the window and saw standing in the road a horse and buggy and the dim figure of a man.

"Doctor, you're wanted. Hurry!"

"What's the matter—somebody sick?"

"Somebody injured."

"Surgery case?"

"Yes."

"I'm not a surgeon, and I have no instruments."

"It can't be helped. You're the only medical man near by. Come at once. You may save a life."

There is a road running around the lake close to the margin. On this road we skirted the little bay and stopped at a house. It was white. The front door opened on to the road, the other side fronting on the lake. I looked up and saw on the lake side of the building an overhanging balcony. Lights were moving to and fro past the windows, and there was every indication of a stirring scene within. I knew I was at the house that had affected me, for we had come just far enough to reach it and there was no other house within a quarter or half a mile.

The door opened, and I passed from the man who had brought me to be-received by an old woman. She was a singular looking creature dressed in a very old fashioned style. She led me upstairs to a bedroom, where on a four post bedstead with a valance about it lay a young man from whom the life was fast ebbing. A girl hung over him, while on a settle with his face buried in the cushions was another man, trembling convulsively. Others were about, but these three seemed to me to be the central figures of a tragedy.

I drew down the bedclothes and saw at once by the blood that the young man had received a wound. It was a sword thrust and in a part of the body where it was likely to prove fatal. The man on the sofa arose and, coming to the other side of the bed, watched me with a look hungry for an expression of hope. The girl stood beside me, also eager to catch a word of comfort. The wound had been stanced, but the flow of blood had not been stopped. There were no means at hand of determining what internal part the weapon had pierced or how deep was the stab. Besides, not being a surgeon, had I possessed instruments I should scarcely have dared to use them.

My mind was—so far as the mind can be—on two subjects—first, the scenes before me; second, the fact that I was in the house over which I had been dreaming. Indeed, I was in a state of mental confusion. An old man came to the door, wrung his hands, turned and went away. The view I got of him was only for a second or two, and the light where he stood was dim, for only candles were used in the house, but it seemed to me that he was dressed very strangely, and as he turned his back I saw that either his hair was long or something like a cue hung down behind. The young man standing opposite me was also dressed oddly, and the girl appeared to have put on a costume of her grandmother's.

"I have it," I said to myself. "These people have been to a fancy dress entertainment of some kind, and a tragedy has occurred there. The wounded man has been brought home, and the costumes have not been changed."

There stood those two young people each hanging on me for a word of encouragement, while I, knowing but little more about the outcome than they, staggered by my strange surroundings, confused at being thus brought to a house that some unexplained means of communication had caused me to feel contained a story, knew not what to say to them.

Relief came when suddenly an ashen hue came upon the patient's face as though a white powder had been thrown upon it. Both those standing with me knew that it meant death. The girl sank down on her knees, with a sob, while the man opposite bent over the dying man and in a voice of agony cried:

"Come back! My God—I have killed my brother!"

I have a vague remembrance of people rushing into the room, among them the old man who had come to the door, who wrung his hands and turned away. Then there was an elderly lady in a cap and a broad lace collar. The last scene I can recall is one of all these people, some looking at the corpse on the bed, others at the man who had cried out in his remorse and pointing to his victim. The last sound was a wail from the girl.

I awoke from sleep with a start.

I was sitting in a wicker chair on the porch of the house in which I was living, looking out over the little bay at the house of the overhanging balcony. Dawn was breaking, and, facing east as the house did, what light there was shone upon it and enabled me to see it. The morning was serene—not a leaf stirring on the trees, not a ripple on the water. I felt just as if I had passed through such a scene as I have described. I was not inordinately disturbed. I had no feeling of having experienced anything supernatural.

True to the instincts of an investigator, I began at once to think of what had really happened. I might have dreamed it all, walking in my sleep and finally sitting on the porch. Or had I really been called up and visited a patient without having entirely thrown off slumber? My opinion was that I had passed through the scene I have described. If I had there must have been some foundation for that scene.

Creeping upstairs, I went to bed and to sleep. In the morning my first impression on awaking was that I had passed through, and it was as vivid as if I had but just awakened from it. I said nothing about my experience, but after breakfast set out to walk around the water's edge to the house with the overhanging balcony.

When I reached it I found it locked. Not a person was on the premises. It was, at least on the outside, in good repair and bore evidence of having been lately occupied. I walked on to the next house. An old man was in the yard splitting firewood. I asked him about the deserted house, beginning by inquiring how old it was.

"Dunno," he replied. "I been livin' here fifty years, and it was there when I came. They say it was built about 120 years ago. It's full o' old furniture that's been there ever since the place was new."

"Has it since been occupied?"

"It's sometimes rented to city folks for the summer season."

"Are there any stories connected with it?"

"None as I ever heered."

"Has anybody ever complained of ghosts?"

"Not that I know."

I spent some time endeavoring to elicit information that would indicate the house to be haunted, not that I believed it was, but I desired to eliminate this common superstition. I was looking rather for some interpretation based on natural cause and effect. I walked back meditating, but made no headway whatever, even in forming a theory.

I remained long enough by the lake to learn all that could be learned of the deserted house, but got nothing to bear on the case. I have no explanation to give, but my belief is that the scene I passed through really occurred many years ago, the secret having been perfectly kept. I have a fancy that my looking so long and steadily at the house, by some process yet unknown, imprinted the thrilling scene on my brain. There is no need for me to frame a story of a rivalry between two brothers; any one can do that.

accommodation of an increase of cows and for hay storage.

W. O. Ford is confined at his home suffering with an attack of rheumatism in the heels of both his feet. He is alone, as his wife is away on a visit in Los Angeles.

To our German friends we would like to state a fact which may not be generally known that they have a German physician at San Bruno. Dr. E. A. Bohm. Telephone, Junction House.

The Enterprise is in receipt of a complimentary ticket to attend a lecture to be given at Easton school house this evening, commencing at 8 o'clock, by Colonel L. W. Simmons, one of General Grant's secret service agents. The subject of the lecture is, "Perils of the Secret Service." Many thanks.

The long promised tower at the crossing is now in place and a gang of men are busy digging ditches and placing pipe and other attachments to connect the gates. The crossings will soon be safe and present an air of business which the people will be thankful for.

The Dorcas Society met at Mrs. Grady's home on Friday, September 30th. The rooms were filled with beautiful flowers, gifts from the gardens of members. The ladies were treated to a lovely lunch, which was enjoyed by all, and it was noticed that several went away carrying recipes with them for some of the good things served. The society met at Mrs. L. Hudson's, third addition, on Friday, October 7th, and after partaking of luncheon, spent the afternoon sewing and discussing a wedding anniversary to be given in the near future. There will be several very enjoyable affairs given in San Bruno this winter.

The passing away of Charles Cody in the unfortunate trolley car accident last Sunday night in San Francisco caused his many friends in San Bruno profound sorrow. Mr. Cody was an ardent friend and had explicit faith in the development of the Peninsula. He was a pioneer in San Bruno and had erected a home where he and his family resided until his business in San Francisco demanded his constant attention, necessitating him to again take up his residence in the city. It has been his custom to spend what leisure time he had with his family here and was a frequent visitor when the opportunity presented itself. The oldtimers knew him best and often sought him for advice, as his large acquaintance and knowledge of affairs could be relied upon. Many friends paid the last tribute to his memory last Tuesday by attending the funeral.

A birthday dinner was given Dave Sterrett at the Villa parlors last Sunday afternoon. A number of friends of Dave planned that his 24th anniversary would be one thing to be remembered. Ted Cordy surprised those fortunate enough to be in attendance by acting as the chief chef. No French chef would ask for an increase of salary while Ted's services could be obtained. The seasoning of the viands is where Ted shines. A London menu was the order of the day. Dave was the recipient of many presents, some from friends who were unable to be present. The following menu that gave so much satisfaction and of which chief Cordy received congratulations and encouragement in the art of gastronomy was as follows: Oxtail soup, roast beef and mutton, potatoes, cabbage, peas and asparagus, rice pudding, mince pie, apricot tarts, tea, coffee, beer and wine, and special birthday cake.

Prominent Publisher Suicides.

Frank M. Lupton, president of the F. M. Lupton, Inc., publishers of the People's Home Journal, and a millionaire, committed suicide by cutting his throat in the bathroom of his home in Brooklyn. The publisher had been suffering from melancholia, following a series of operations.

San Mateo. He was salutatorian of the first graduating class of that city's high school. His oration on the theme "Russia or Japan, Which?" in which he argued against the sympathy of Americans being extended to Japan, was prophetic, and attracted wide attention at the time. Mr. Green attended Stanford University, and was called to the office of Gavin McNab, one of the leaders of the San Francisco bar. He was one of the youngest men ever admitted to practice in the U. S. district and circuit courts and has appeared in both on many occasions. Mr. Green comes of a family of lawyers. While the office of district attorney is in no sense a political one, yet there is no occasion for any republican to go out of his party to fill that office.

A coal oil stove exploded in the home of a laborer in Hillcrest drive, at 11 o'clock last Saturday night. Within a few minutes five buildings were burning and in half an hour all were destroyed. Men scantily dressed rushed from nearby houses and prevented further loss. Seven families were left homeless by the fire at Vista Grande, but they were given temporary refuge in the vicinity. Two hours later the unoccupied two-story frame building of the Colma baking company in Werner avenue was in flames. Here also buckets were pressed into use, but it was found impossible to prevent the destruction of the baking company's building. The fire is thought to have been of incendiary origin.

BIG ADVERTISEMENT FOR CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco and Entire State
Will Benefit Through Publicity

It pays to advertise. Any business man will tell you that. But what a great many people do not realize is that advertising—judicious advertising—pays the advertiser, whether the advertiser be a business man, a city or a State.

The census returns show a healthy growth in the great majority of cities throughout the United States but the greatest average increase in population is found in those communities that have followed a course of systematically advertising their superior advantages in climate, and in commercial and industrial possibilities.

A striking example of the benefits of municipal advertising, as illustrated by census returns, is shown in a recent press dispatch from Washington giving the completed figures from four cities. The city of Jacksonville, Florida, heads the list with a increase of 103 per cent. This is a wonderful increase and way beyond anything shown by the other cities included in the report.

The explanation is simple. The city of Jacksonville has been a generous and consistent advertiser. Henry M. Flagler has expended $2,000,000 in telling the world about Florida, and about the beautiful and progressive Jacksonville and the world has responded. Florida has grown and developed remarkably in ten years and Jacksonville has shared in the general prosperity.

The advertising that San Francisco is receiving and will continue to receive for the next five years will bring results equal to those shown in the Jacksonville returns. Not a dollar of money that is being spent by San Francisco in the fight for the Panama Exposition will be wasted. It is an investment, and an immensely profitable one whether the fight for the fair is won or lost, and as we are going to win, the investment will be doubly profitable.
